CITIZENS OUT FOR GROUT.

A COMMITTEE OF ONE HUNDRED PUBLING HIS CAMPAIGN.

Republican Bott in the Ninth Senate District - E. F. Linton Accepts an Independent Nomination - A Significant Meeting. The Democratic campaign in Brooklyn is now ander full headway. The regular headquarters are in the Thomas Jefferson building. The Citiens' party, which has enthusiastically espoused he cause of Edward M. Grout, has opened seprate headquarters in the Real Estate Exchange n Montague street. Chairman James McMahon of the big Aradmy of Music demonstration named yesterday Committee of One Hundred which is to frect the citizens' campaign for Mr. Gront, It ncludes such well-known and influential citiens as ex-Congressman Felix Campbell, Augusus C. Fischer, Dr. T. L. Fogarty, Sidney V. Jowell, John Mackay, A. L. Sessions, Henry G. Jeaver, Sanders Suanks, James T. Easton, C. Augustus Haviland, James Matthews, Desmond Dunne, William D. Veeder, Thomas P. Ryan, Charles M. Stafford, and Dr. J. R. Quinn.

Jerry A. Wernberg, one of the most popular nes in Brooklyn, is among the latest deserters rom the Shepardite flock. He was closely associated with Mr. Shepard in the prosecution of John Y. McKane, and nelped build up the sosalled reform organization. He is too much of Democrat, however, to assist Mr. Shepard in als efforts to wreck the party.

An independent Republican candidate has been nominated in the Ninth senate district in the person of Edward F. Linton, the millionaire banker of the East New York district. Mr. Linton was a candidate for the nomination in the regular Republican Convention, and he as-serts he was defeated by Julius Wieman by un-fair methods.

the regular Republican. Convention, and he asserts he was defeated by Julius Wieman by unfair methods.

Great pressure was brought to bear on Mr. Linton to keep him out of the race, but nearly 1,000 Republicans in the district joined in a written request to him to become an independent candidate. He finally acceded to their wishes and last night called in person at the office of the Board of Elections and filed his nomination. There are 290 individual names attached to the nominating petition.

Mr. Linton has chosen the statue of Justice as his emblem. The Shepardites have nominated P. Elbert Nostrand as their candidate in this district, and in the quadrilateral fight Erastus D. Benedict, the regular Republican candidate, stands an excellent chance to be the winner. Last week the Republican managers were willing to give odds of 3 to 1 on Wurster, but yesterday 100 to 70 was the best offer which could be obtained by the men with plenty of Democratic money behind them. The change in the betting resuits directly from the positive information which has reached Republican headquarters from various reliable sources that the German vote, for the most part, was going to be placed in the Democratic column this year. An incident which is regarded as significant occurred yesterday afternoon at the Republican headquarters in the German as building, where County Register Granville W. Harman, who is the temporator of an annual official revenue occurred yesterday afternoon at the Republican headquarters in the Germania building, where County Register Granville W. Harman, who is in the enjoyment of an annual official revenue of $75,000 or more, is in charge as the special manager of Mr. Wurster's Mayoralty campaign, Assemblyman John A. Hennessy, who boited from the regular Democracy after he got beaten in his faction fight with the Mediarrylies in the Tenth ward, and, joining the Shepardites, accepted their nomination for Senator in the Fifth district, turned up as a visitor to Mr. Wurster's headquarters.

district, turned up as a visitor to Mr. Wurster's headquarters.

The understrappers at once stepped aside and the versatile Mr. Hennessy was shown to Mr. Harman's private office. The door was locked, and for nearly hulf an hour Mr. Harman and Mr. Hennessy haid a secret conference.

When Mr. licenessy had departed, it was soliced that Mr. Harman was even more jubilant than usual, and the headquarters subordinates predicted that the young reformer from the McGarryite dominions would divert 3,000 votes from the regular Democracy.

None of them questioned the propriety of Mr. Hennessy's remarkable call on Mr. Wurster's manager, and they also reputilated the suggestion that it indicated any disposition on Mr. Hennessy's part to be disloyal to the cause of Mr. Edward M. Shepard, in which he is so actively enlisted. Mr. Harman said in an off-hand way:

"Oh, there is no story back of this whatever."

"Oh, there is no story back of this whatever.
Mr. Hennessy simply called to see me on private business. Our interview had nothing to do with politics." The matter was discussed, however, all over town last night, and some of the McGarry men were ready to bet their bottom dollar that most of the 3,000 Democratic votes which Mr. Hennessy claims to control were more likely to be placed in the Wurster than in the Shepard column.

G. G. TICKET IN SERIOUS PERIL Police Board May Decide that They're Not

The Goo Goos are half worried into hysterics over the fate of the half-orphan ticket at the hands of the Police Board. They can't prove in the customary way that they cast last year the one per cent. of the vote that entitles them to a place on the official ballot without nominating by petition. At the meeting of the Police Board vesterday Boudingt Keith represented the club, and he had an armful of affidavits to the effect that last year the club had an en-Commissioner Roosevelt thought there was no doubt that the ticket had a right on the ballot. Commissioner Goo Goos must show that they had cast at least 3,000 votes at the last election. They had fused with the Republicans, and it was a question whether it could be considered that they had polled any votes at all as Good Government Club were.

Indu polled any votes at all as Good Government Club men.

"I don't agree with you," said Mr. Roosevelt.
"According to that argument, if the Republican and Good Government Club men unite on a ticket one year, then the next both have to nominate as independents."

Mr. Keith, who had been looking hopeless, looked hopeful. Mr. Roosevelt looked at him and said: "I'm darn sorry you made your ticket."

and said; I'm darn sorry job man said; ticket;
George Walton Green, the State Democracy man, who was at the meeting on other business, said he had very great doubts as to the legality of the half-orphan ticket. Mr. Keith looked dargers at him. The Board postponed action.
Just then Thaddeus B. Wakeman came in and wanted to know why the certificates of nomination of nearly all the Senate and Assembly candidates of the People's party had been rejected. Mr. Roosevelt told him they had been rejected because they were irregular.

Mr. Roosevelt told him they had been rejected because they were irregular.

"If such certificates and affidavits as the Good Government Club men submit were sent here from the First and Third wards they would not be listened to," said a Populist who had come in with Wakeman. "If people have a little polish they are recognized."

"Stop." commanded Mr. Roosevelt. "Your opinion is entirely erroneous, and no more remarks like that will be permitted here."

The Goo Goos hope that Commissioner Parker will yote for them in the Board. Some of them think he will yote their ticket.

FUSION CANDIDATES CORRALLED. Mr. Lauterbach Talks to Them and They to Him-Efforts to Whoop Things Up. The Hon. Edward Lauterbach exhibited the fusion candidates at Republican county headquarters yesterday afternoon. The candidates were invited up there to hear what was being done for them. Incidentally, a great many of the district leaders were invited, too. Ernest Hall, Myer S. Isaacs, Thomas L. Hamilton, Thomas F. Keating, Thomas Allison, John Fen nel, Henry C. Botty, Daniel O'Connell, and Sherman Evarts attended, Mr. Beaman sent word that he could not be there. Mr. Lauter-bach presided at the meeting and made "a aposeh to the ticket." in the course of which he assured the candidates that the Republican County Committee had endorsed them and two committees of thirteen had been appointed to run the campaign. The candidates said that that was very satisfactory. Then the question what ought to be done to make the fight a bit more interesting was discussed, and a lot of plans were suggested. Among other things it was decided that the candidates should meet every Friday afternoon with the Campaign Committee for consultation, and that Charles Stewart Smith and J. Harsen Rhoades of the Fifty should meet with the Campaign Committee every day to approve or disapprove what is being done. word that he could not be there. Mr. Lauter-

Bernps of the Political Campaign.

The Republican Ciub held a reception and housewarming last night at its club house, 450 Fifth avenue. The occasion was the formal presentation by the House Committee of the renovated building. For two months the building has been undurgionly repairs, and the interior has been returnished and decorated.

The New York Citizen's Alliance met yesterday afteration and endorsed Alfred Steckler for Judge of the Soureme Court on the ground that the I. C. O's had the only genuine open Sunday platform in the city.

THE ROOSTER RULED OUT.

Necretary of State Patmer Hays He W. Not Receive ft for Piling.

ALBANY, Oct. 18. Secretary of State John Palmer had retired when THE SUN reporter reached his residence on Madison avenue tonight. He sent down word that he had taken no action in the matter of the State Democracy's claim to a separate column and an emblem on ballot. He had but just returned to Albany and had not vis-ited his office. Hence he could have taken no action. Secretary Palmer was then asked whether he would file the emblem certificate of the State Democracy in case it should be presented at his office for filing, now that the time had gone by. He replied emphatically that he would not accept or receive it for filing. This was all the Secretary of State cared to say on the subject. His deputy, A. G. Davidson, was out of town, and the chief clerk couldn't be out of town, and the chief clerk couldn't be found to tell whether the rooster had again been presented for filing.

If the Secretary of State accepts the latest opinion of Attorney-General Hancock as good law he can even now accept the certificate designating the rooster as the emblem of the State Democracy, and file it, notwithstanding that the time prescribed by the law has passed. Under this same opinion, if the Secretary of State will not receive and file the certificate, an application to the courts might comeel him to do so, provided he could not prove to the satisfaction of the Court that there was not time enough remaining to receive it and print the ballots. The well-known firmness of Secretary of State Palmer, when once he has made up the mind, will make such an application to the courts necessary, since he has declared that he will not receive the certificate if presented.

ROOSEVELT STANDS BY THE ROOSTER ROOSEVELT STANDS BY THE ROOSTER.

President Roosevelt, in speaking of the rooster assigned to the third column of the official ballot as the emblem of the State Democracy, said yesterday that he had gone carefully over the matter and was convinced that the action of the Police Board was right.

"It rests with the courts to settle the matter," he added, "and if our decision is upset it is upset, that is all."

No appeal appears to have been undertaken here. here. The State Democracy's view is officially given

The State Democracy's view is officially given as follows:

The Secretary of State, in certifying to the local election officers the party names, and emblems fled with him, has done precisely what the law requires him to do. It is no part of his function to advise the local officers in respect to local tickets only or the tickets of factions of a State party, where such factions exist. The New York State Democracy stands as a faction of the Democratic party, disagreein, with the faction recognized as regular by the State Convention, but disagreeing with it on local candidates only. It has made its party nominations of local officers in the manner provided by law, and is indispotably staticle to a party column, with rooster emblen and its local candidates. Under the party of the state of the second candidates, and the time state of the second candidates of the party for State officers printed at the feed of the column under the own the courts decided that it was entitled, under similar election that it was entitled, under similar election that it was entitled, under similar election that it was entitled, under similar elections of the column under the own the courts decided that it was entitled in under similar elections of the column under the own the courts decided that it was entitled in under similar elections of the column under

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OPINION.

Certificates of Nomination May Be Files After the Period Prescribed by Law. ALBANY, Oct. 18.-Attorney-General Han eock, in response to a telegram from V. A. Albro of Mayville, Chautauqua county, has written an opinion in which he says:

"In my opinion an official ballot voted at an election would not be invalid if it contained the names of persons whose certificate of nomina tion was filed after the period prescribed by the election code. And it would seem, therefore, that the officer with whom the certificate of nomination must be filed may receive it after such period, if within time to print and distribute the ballot. This is a question not free from doubt, but I think such receipt, though iregular, would not be illegal."

This was shown to some other Republican State officials who have to study the Election law, and they pronounced it subversive of the whole intent of the law, which fixes a definite time when nominations must be filed. It was, noreover, they declared, a contradiction of an opinion emanating from the Attorney-General's office a short time ago in relation to the filing of a nomination for Senator in the Thirty-eighth

"It will be truly an occasion when the State Committee will show that every Democrat in Committee will show that every Democrat in New York city will rally te the support of a clean, unassailable ticket against the combined forces of Plattism and Puritanism."

TOO MUCH FOR THE POLICE BOARD Republican First District Fight Left to the County Committee.

The fight among the First district Republican ver the double nomination for Assembly will have to be settled by the Republican County committee. The Police Commissioners washed their hands of it vesterday after a Conwavite had threatened to break the neck of a Murphylte. Two conventions were held in the district Two conventions were held in the district. James Conway was nominated by one and Joseph Murphy by the other. Both filed certificates as regular. Conway is a Brookfield man and Murphy a Platt man. When the matter came before the Police Board yesterday. Otto Irving Wise insisted that Conway wasn't regular, in spite of the fact that the State Convention at Saratoga had decided that the Brookfield men in the district were the regulars. He declared that the delegates in the Convention that nominated Conway were tools of Eugene Healey.

Healey.

"If I had you outside I'd break your neck!"
roared a Conway man. Some of the people in the room cheered and others hissed. Mr. Rooseveit declared that if such a remark was made again, the man who made it would be put out.
Mr. Healey talked for Conway and declared that the Murphy Convention was a rump affair.
There was an uproar when the Commissioners decided to leave it to the Republican County Committee.

Astarita Italians Swallow Pusion.

After a long fight, the Italian Republican League last night passed a resolution endorsing the fusion ticket. Considerable hostility was shown at the meeting toward the Committee of Fifty, which was responsible for the defeat of Antonio C. Astarita, the Italian candidate for nomination on the Republican ticket for City Court Justice, and a metion to vote only for such of the candidates on the fusion ticket as were straight Republicans was received with cheers, although it was afterward floored.

Roosevelt and Strong caught it in the speechmaking. Several members of the league afterward said that, in spite of the resolution, which was made unanimous on a second vote they would under no circumstances vote the fusion ticket, and many spoke enthusiastically of the ties Goos. Astarita, who is the President of the union, put the fusion endorsement through by hard work. Fifty, which was responsible for the defeat of

THEY SENT A COMMITTEE TO LOOK UP B. F. MARTIN'S RECORD.

Odd Report on Tammany Legislative Nom The Garoos got into a muddle yesterday after noon at the meeting of their Campaign Committee in the headquarters of the organization at Forty-third street and Lexington avenue, over endorsing the Tammany Hall legislative candidates. They appointed a committee to look into character and fitness. This committee is composed of Charles Lutz, Sheriff's anction eer; George Strassner, Shertff's stenographer Magnus Levy, Alphonse Castaldo, Frederick Rossbach, Edward Grosse, Alexander Kramer Charles P. Haugh, and John Felerobend. The first five were to report on Bernard F. Martin. The official statement of their report says:

A committee appointed to investigate the character and record of the candidates for the Legislature made a preliminary report, from which it appeared that if the organization should judge the respective candidate by its own standard of probity, very few candidate could be favored by an endorse

This official statement gives a very indefinite idea of what occurred. A member of the committee supplied more details. According to him the sub-committee of five reported that they went to Tammany Hall yesterday to inquire about Mr. Martin. From there they went to the Sheriff's office and discussed the matter with Tamsen, and then went to the commit meeting and reported that they found that there was nothing to prevent the Garoos from endorsing Mr. Martin. This report was not satisfactory to the men who had raised the question of Mr. Martin's character, and they succeeded in having the report tabled.

The Garoo Law Committee reported that there is nothing in the Penal Code or the Constitution which will prevent the legislative candidates from signing the pledge which the Garoos had prepared, but it advised that the organization should not insist on the pledges, but merely ask the candidates for their opinion in writing on proposed Sunday and excise legislation. This proposition was approved.

Maybe the denunciation of Warner Miller, with which the Garoos proposed to flood the State, will not be sent out. The pamphlet has been prepared, but the Executive Committee was informed yesterday that the Democratic State Committee wanted to run their own campaign, and would like to have something to say about the acvisability of circulating an attack on Miller among the hayseed voters. It was arranged, therefore, that a delegation should meet Major Hinkley of the State Committee and United States Senator Hill, to whom they are to submit their falmination.

All the Garoo forces will be concentrated in Dr. Senner's district the Thirty-first to-night. Dr. Senner's district the Thirty-first to-night. Dr. Senner's district the Thirty-first to-night. It was said at Garoo headquarters yesterday that they have the five editorial writers on the Staats-Zeiung in full sympathy with them. The member of the committee who made this statement said:

FIFTY CAN'T THINK RIGHT.

A Ponderous Apology for Fusion that It Takes a Long Time to Tinker.

The Committee of Fifty is having a harder job finding an excuse for endorsing the fusion ticket than it had to bring about fusion. After the nominations were made the committee appointed a sub-committee to issue an address to the people explaining things. Ex-Secretary Fairchild was made Chairman of this commit tee, and the work was begun right away. The nmittee met in a couple of days and listened to a document prepared by Mr. Fairchild. It to a document prepared by Mr. Fairchild. It didn't suit. Every other day since then it has been announced that the address was ready and would be given out. When it wasn't given out the excuse was made that there was trouble over the excuse or some other plank. The committee met vesterday at 1 o'clock. Mr. Fairchild said the address was all done and would be given out. The session lasted until 2:30, and Mr. Fairchild came out looking unhappy. There was another meeting at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Fairchild said that the address would surely be given out at night. It was 5 o'clock when their session was over, and again Mr. Fairchild's face was clouded. He said. "There are certain changes to be made." was clouded. He said, "There are certain changes to be made."
"What are they?" asked the reporter.
He shrugged his shoulders and walked away.
There will be more sessions of the committee to-day.

This kind of campaign work, the Goo Goos say, is practically the only kind that pays, and if they can see enough people their ticket will win. They make this declaration earnestly. The cart-tail campaign was to have started last night, but there was a hitch, and the opening was postponed until Monday night. Four carts will go through the east side below Four-teenth street. The speakers are not all chosen, but it is certain that Richard Watson Gilder will not be one of them. He was one of their principal cart-tail speakers last year, but he is for fusion.

SUNBURST STRAIGHT TICKET. Just Like Tammany's, but a Good Deal Harder to Vote.

There will be two Democratic tickets, straight throughout, printed on the official ballot. One will be printed under the star emblem adopted by the Syracuse Convention, the other under sunburst, and the candidates for local and sunburst, and the candidates for local and legislative offices in this county will be those of Tammany Hall. The sunburst is the emblem of the United Societies for Liberal Sunday Laws, which as the Independent Citizens' Organization, has nominated the Tammany ticket. Herman Sulzer, candidate of the societies for Assemblyman in the Thirty-fourth, will withdraw in favor of Bernard H. Malone, the Tammany candidate. The sunburst nominations are all independent and must be printed in the columns reserved for independent candidates. It can have no circle above it in which the voter by one marking can vote the ticket straight. All of the candidates will have to be voted for individually.

THOMAS B. REED'S CALLERS.

The House Committees Occupy Him-'Fris The Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed, who is to ! Speaker of the coming Republican House, had squads of visitors yesterday at his temporary abiding place, 18 West Forty-ninth street. National Committeeman W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, National Committeeman P. C. Chency of New Hampshire, Congressman Powers of Vermont, and Congressman Sereno E Payne of the Twenty-eighth New York district were some of those who called.

Mr. Crane and the New England folks declared that Mr. Reed would have every delegate from New England in the next National Convention. Mr. Reed does not speak of his Presidential prospects. He seems to be more interested in selecting the Chairmen of the important committees of the House of Representatives. Congressman Payne believes that he ought to e Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, but Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio is also in the fight. Then there is a tangle over the selection of th

Chairman for the Appropriations Committee.

Congressman Henderson of Iowa is the ranking Republican member in seniority, but Congressman Joe Cannon of Illinois wants the place. Mr. Reed will probably remain in town until Senator Matthew Stanley Quay of Pennsylvania arrives, which may be in a day or two.

The Hon. Charles M. Shortridge, editor of the San Francisco. Call and the special commissioner of San Francisco, appointed to secure at all hazards the next National Republican Convention for the Golden Gate City, arrived at the Holland House last night on his mission. He saw Thomas Henry Carter, Chairman of the National Executive Committee, Gen. James S. Clarkson, the National Committeeman for lowa, and W. M. Hahn, the National Committeeman for Ohio, Mr. Shortridge says that the National Committeemen from the following States and Territories favor the selection of San Francisco: Alaska, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, Texas, Maine, Connecticut, and Jowa.

Mr. Shortridge will appear before the Nature of the San Texas, Maine, Connecticut, and Jowa. Congressman Henderson of Iowa is the ranking

Mr. Shortridge will appear before the National Republican Committee in Washington and urge the claims of San Francisco. The meeting will probably be early in December, and the call will probably be issued next week.

GROTE NOT OUT OF IT YET. May Run for the Assembly in Spite of the

It is altogether likely that the Hon. W. Fred. erick Grote will run for the Assembly in the Sixteenth district in spite of the fact that his resignation is in the hands of the Executive Committee of the State Democracy. Jake Kunzenman, who got into disgrace at the same Kunzenman, who got into disgrace at the same time with Grote over the Williams deal, wouldn't resign when the Grace Executive Committee ordered him to. He's been calling Grote a fool ever since, and this has served to stiffen Grote's backbone. Grote was seen at his saloon in Houston street last night. He said. "Now just leave this out until to-morrow, won't you? Don't say a word about it."

"Are you going to run?" he was asked.

"I won't say a word." he said. "Leave it out to-night and come and see me to-morrow night.

"I won't say a word," he said. "Leave it out to-night and come and see me to-morrow night. I'll have a good story then."
Inquiry at State Democracy headquarters developed the same desire that nothing should be printed at present. It is a fact that while the leaders hold Grote's resignation, they have not yet accepted it, and no notice of declination has been filed with the Police Board.

The committee reported that they had seen Mr. Lauterbach, who promised that in the event of the election of the county ticket the organization would be fairly treated in the distribution of patents. organization would be fairly treated in the dis-tribution of patronage, and that any colored applicant for office, in order to be recegnized by the appointing power, would have to have the endorsement of the colored Republican county organization. Goo-Goo Club L of the Thirtieth Assembly district at a meeting yesterday passed a resolution demanding a special meeting of the Co ederation of Goo-Goo Clubs to bounce Club X for bolting the half-orphan ticket. The bolt of Club X and Club F has stirred up a muss in the other clubs and a lot more meetings are going other clubs and a lot more meetings are going to be held, demanding the dismissal of the two clubs from the confederation. Club L yesterday endorsed the State Hemocracy candidate, John A. Henneberry, for Senator, and Louis H. Bold, State Democracy candidate for Assembly in the Thirteenth district.

One more Goo Goo club bolted the half-orphan ticket last night. Club P met at 27 West 124th street, and after three hours of talk decided, by a vote of 44 to 16, to endorse the fusion ticket and to advise the withdrawal of the Goo Goo ticket. H. C. F. Koch was the leader of the bolters.

Women Who Favor More Liberal Excise Laws.

The Harlem Auxiliary of the Woman's Na tional Republican Association held its weekly meeting in the rooms of the Harlem Republican Club, at 125th street and Seventh avenue, yesterday. Mrs. Stephen King spoke on the excise question, favoring a liberal Sunday law because, she said. New York is a cosmosolitan city, and we must cater to foreigners. Mrs. King favored a new excise law, declaring that the present law is a farce. Miss Helen Varick Boswell spoke, seconding Mrs. King's remarks.

APPEAL TO THE PATRIARCH

TO STOP THE ARMENIAN DISORDER IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

After the Riots Arms Were Found Upon the Refugees- 300 Armenians in Jall, In-cinding Over One Hundred; Wounded-A

COSSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 18 .- At a meeting on Wednesday night of the six Ambassadors of the powers which sent the joint note to the Porte relative to the recent rioting here it was de cided to send a collective address to the Armenian Patriarch, asking him to use his influ ence to stop the agitation that is being carried on among the Armenians.

The address will be presented by the drago mans of the British, Russian, and Austrian em assire. The meeting of the Ambassadors was held at the residence of M. Cambon, the renre entative of France.

As told previously in these despatches, a search was made of the Armenian refugees when they left the churches in which they had sough safety after the rioting. It is learned that 288 revolvers and other firearms were then found on the Armenians. These were seized by the searchers. The weapons will be deposited in the Ministry of War in parcels bearing the seals of the embassies.

Secretary Lister of the British Embassy, who has visited the prisons under the permission reluctantly granued by the Porte, saw about 300 Armenians in the jails, including 118 wounded, who were in hospital. The condition of 18 of these wounded prisoners is critical. The Commission appointed to inquire into the circumstances of the arrests of Armenians has released 80 orisoners.

London, Oct. 18.—The Globe, in an article commenting upon the acceptance by the Sultan of the new proposals submitted by the representatives of England, France, and Russia, says:

"The terms of the proposals are not known precisely, but they are certainly much less drastic than were the original ones. The Government of the Turkish empire is not to be put into the hands of a commission, nor is the Sultan to be superseded by a European official in Armenia or anywhere else."

The Globe expresses the belief that the settlement will not last long, but says:

"English diplomacy took the lead in bringing the Sultan to his present attitude, and it would be shameful not to uphold him against further assaults upon his independence."

The Times will to-morrow say that Sir Phillip Currie, the British Ambassador to Turkey, has received from an Armeniani source a warning that the Young Turkey party is very likely to induce some Armenian miscreant to make an attempt on his life for the purpose of disgracing the Armenians.

The Standard will to-morrow publish a despatch from Constantinople saying that the conclusion of the dispute between the Porte and the powers has not been received with rejoicing.

The members of the Hourse and merchanis are perhaps pleased, and the embassies certainly are, but the Armenians consider the concessions illusory and the control provided inadequate. The Turkish officials admit that consent to the scheme of reform was wrung from the Porte by violent pressure.

Turkish independent opinion is violently averse to the Armenians obtaining special privileges. Many of the most competent observers declare that the country is on the eve of a crisis, but the correspondent of the Standard expresses himself as being skeptical of the powers of organization and cohesion of the opponents of the palace. He is, moreover, convinced that the Suitan would not hesitate to employ troops to repress any Moslem movement with the utmost severity.

The despatch confirms the accounts already telegraphed to the United Press of the rioting at Trebizond and Akhissar, and adds that the officials at the latter place arrested fifty-two persons, almost all of whom were Bulgarian immigrants.

THE GRIEF OF A DOG. Two Incidents Illustrating the Strength of Canine Affection.

New London, Oct. 18 .- A peculiar and pathetic incident was noted here a day or two ago in connection with the death of Alfred Rogers. who was drowned off Gunn's coal wharf in the harbor, and whose body was recovered some time later near the shore at Easton Point in Groton. Rogers's young dog, a tiny, jaunty chap, and creat pet in the family because of his affectionate disposition and gay and sprightly ways, was on the wharf at the time his master was struggling with the waves that finally engulfed him, and he seemed dazed, not comprehending what was going on in the river. After Rogers's body had been swept down the swiftly rolling river and out of sight, the pug, a dark little dot, mute and almost motionless, still clung to the edge of the pier, gazing stead-little dot, mute and almost motioniess, still clung to the edge of the pier, gazing steadfastiy and pitifully at the black stream. Few noticed him at the time, and those who did giance at him, did not reflect that his presence there had any relation with the melancholy incident they had winessed.

Six o'clock came, and the wharf was deserted, the riverside men having returned to their homes, whistling and chatting and jingling their dinner pails, but the little dog sat on, still looking mournfully but expectantly into the moonlit, billowing harbor. He stayed there all night, making no sound, and no one coming to him. All the next day be kept watch there, the workmen bustling about him, and now they pointed him out to one another, for they knew what his lonely, silent vigil meant. With his head hanging over the stringpiece of the wharf, he crouched there for hours, immovable, making no noise, looking steadily down into the water. Once only a symmathetic workman approached him, who strove to coax or lead him from his self-assigned post of duty, but the dog resented the man's well-meant interference, growling piteonsiy, and the man retired.

It was late in the day that his master's body was recovered, and not until it had been borne up the long gray wharf, sodden and dripping, and a little knot of silent men set out through the streets for the dead man's home, mechanically escorting the bier, that the sorrowing animal abruptly forsook his niace on the pier, trotting mutely beside the body, the picture of dejection and misery.

A very similar incident came to pass one day A very similar incident came to pass one day this week in connection with the death and burial of a child, 19 months old, at the village of Greeneville, in the suburbs of Nowich, north of this city. The house dog of the family had always been greatly attached to the boy and was his companion almost constantly during the past ten months. After the child was taken sick it did not quit his betisted day or hight, and in death even resolutely refused to be parted from its companion. The body was laid in its casket in the parior next to the street, and a member of the family was elected to retain the dog in the kitchen, who, in order to wean the animal from its playfellow, finally took it with him for the family was elected to retain the dog in the kitchen, who, in order to wean the animal from its playfellow, finally took it with him for the family was elected to retain the dog in the kitchen, who, in order to wean the animal from its playfellow, finally took it with him for the family was elected to retain the dog in the family had the contest his apparent the bronc the kitchen, who, in order to wean the animal from its playfellow, finally took it with him for a stroil down the viliage street. But as soon as they returned the dog, with every opportunity that came, stole into the parlor and threw itself on the floor beneath the coffin, its head plunced in a melancholy nose between its forenaws. Now and then it uttered a faint, dismal, almost inaudible wail, lifting its head for a moment, then sinking it on the carpet between its paws. Not long after the funeral procession had returned from the burial ground, the faithful animal having accompanied it there, the family missed it from the house, but associated that fact in mind with no unusual conjectures. At 9 o'clock at night, though, a member went in search of it, and found it in the cemetery, crouched on the grave of the child. It went home reloctantly, and still grieves over the loss of its playmate.

FOUR SUSPECTS UNDER ARREST IN BELGIUM.

Three of Them Correspond to the Post Office Robbers Who Escaped from Lud-low Street July Last July Arrested at Brugen by Order of the American Connut BRUORS, Beiglum, Oct. 18.-A robbery of 100,000 france, was perpetrated in Ostend on jewelry and notes, in all amounting in value to Sept. 21, the victims being a well-known firm of jewelers. To-day three Americans, whose names are given as Russell, Killoran, and Henry Anderson, were arcommitted the robbery. A woman, supposed to be Anderson's mistress, was also arrested. It is aid that under the name of Anna James she is well known to the English police. The stolen jewelry was contained in boxes, which were, after their contents had been removed, apparently thrown into the sea, as they were subsequently found on the beach, where they had been washed up by the tide. The police refuse to state what evidence they have to connect the prisoners with the crime, but claim to know that the men are American crooks.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.-Postmaster-General Wilson has received a cablegram from the United States Consul at Bruges, announcing the arrest there of a man supposed to be Harry Russell, one of the Post Office robbers who escaped from the Ludlow street jail in New York on July 4 last, whose escape with two other Post Office thieves was the cause of correspondence between the Postmaster-General and the authorities of New York city relative to the carelessness of the fall officials. The cablegram further stated that two other men and one woman were taken into custody with the man supposed to be Russell.

Upon receipt of this information Postmaster-General Wilson requested Secretary of State Office to cable the Belgian authorities to hold the prisoners until a representative of the Post Office Department could be sent to Bruges to identify them. escape with two other Post Office thieves Office Department could be sent to Bruges to identify them.

No official report of the capture of the three Post Office burgiars who escaped from Sheriff Tamsen's Ludlow street fail on July 4 last was received in this city yesterday. According to the foregoing despatches, men supposed to be Russell and Joseph Killoran and Hienry Anderson, who may be the third fugitive. Charles Allen, are now under arrest in Bruges. Sheriff Tamsen and the Post Office inspectors are very much interested in the report, but are not inclined to talk much about the matter, as the official report has not yet come from Washington. The authorities there are in communication with the Belgian authorities, and with the United States Cousul at Brussels, and by to-day the identity of the men now under arrest will probably be positively known.

Sheriff Tamsen said yesterday that he was skeptical about the report. This is the third time, he said, that the men had been reported captured, and he sees no reason why the newest capture should not turn out to be a mistake, as the others were. "If it should be true," he said, that the men had been reported capture should not turn out to be a mistake, as the others were, "If it should be true," he said, that the fine they don't get out again. I will sleep at the jail all the time they are there, and I guess they'il be pretty safe with us this time.

REMINGTON AS A SCULPTOR.

His Broncho Buster Cast in Bronze. Frederic Remington, best known as an illusrator of wild Western life and of a unique talent in his chosen field, has recently essayed sculpture, and with distinguished success. Mr. Remington's forte, if his work is to be analyzed, has been in the pictorial expression of action, and especially of the horse in action. In his present adventure with modelling clay he has put life into the dull material.

Mr. Remington calls his statue "The Broncho Buster." As cast in bronze, it stands some eighteen or twenty inches in height. His broncho, careering upon his hind legs and pawing all that is vicious and ugly and violent in his kind. His small cars lie back on his head, his tail is switched into a tangled fury, his eye cleams wildly, white his whole lean and angular body is instinct with pure chasedness.

The wiry cow puncher, twized out in the familiar sombrero and leggings, sits his cumbersome saidle like a centaur, and, grasping the scrawny mane of the beast with his left hand, his upraised right holds the short-handled lash with which it is apparent the broncho is to be brought to his better senses. If there is unbridled fury in the contortions of the dumb beast, courage and mastery are expressed in the face and attitude of the rider. The broncho may as well give up. He has met his match. But while the contest lasts, as in durable troops all that is vicious and ugly and violent in his Mr. Remington may be said to i success with his first sculpture.

HOW GLADSTONE BUTS BOOKS. Engene Field Tells of a Sample Transaction that He Witnessed.

From the Chicago Record. From the Chicago Record.

For a good many years I was deeply interested in British politics. I was converted to Liberallam, so called, by an incident which I deem well worth relating.

One afternoon I entered a book shop in High Holborn and found that the Hon. William E. Gladstone had preceded me thither. I had never seen Mr. triadstone before. I recognized him now by his resemblance to the caricatures and by his unlikeness to the portraits which the newspapers had printed. As I entered the shop I heard the bookseller ask:

"What books shall I send?"

To this, with a magnificent sweep of his arms indicating every point of the compass, Gladstone made answer:

"Send me those!"

With these words he left, and I stepped forth indicating every point of the compass, Gladstone made answer:

"Send me those."

With these words he left, and I stepped forth to claim a volume which had attracted my favorable attention several days previous.

"I beg your pardon, sir," said the bookseller, politely. "but that book is sold."

"Sold." I cried.

"Yes, sir," replied the bookseller, smilling with evident pride; "Mr. Gladstone just bought it: I haven't a book for sale—Mr. Gladstone has just bought them all."

The bookseller then proceeded to tell me that whenever Gladstone entered a book shop he made a practice of buying everything in sight. That magnificent, sweeping gesture of his comprehended everything, theology, history, social science, folk lore, medicine, travel, biography—everything that came to his net was fish.

"This is the third time Mr. Gladstone has visited me." said the bookseller, "and this is the third time he has cleaned me out."

"This man is a good man, "says I to myself, "So notable a lover of books surely cannot err. The cause of home rule must be just, after all."

From others intimately acquainted with him I learned that Gladstone was an omnivorous reader; that he ordered his books by the cartioud, and that his home in Hawarden literally overflowed with books. He made a practice, I was told, of overhauling his library once in so often, and of weading out such volumes as he did not care to keep. These discarded books were sent to second-hand dealers, and it is said that the dealers not unfrequently took advantage of tiladstone by reselling him over and over again and at advanced prices, tool the very lots of books he had culled out and rejected.
